RE: No Expiration Dating on Safetec's Hazardous Drugs Spill Kit

We want to assure our customers that our Hazardous Drugs Spill Kit is built to last, with components that maintain their efficacy when stored under proper conditions.

Our kit does not come with expiration dates, as many components, such as gloves, gowns, and face shields, are designed to last indefinitely when stored in the proper conditions, away from direct sunlight or extreme temperatures.

Safetec's spill kit products are composed of stable materials and are distributed without expiration dating. When stored according to labeled instructions, these materials typically maintain their physical and functional integrity under standard ambient conditions and do not degrade solely due to the passage of time.

To support inventory control and transparency, Safetec's Hazardous Drugs Spill Kit will feature a "Date of Manufacture" and include the guidance: "Inspect for signs of deterioration prior to use." These details are intended to aid users in evaluating product condition and fitness for use, but are not indicators of shelf life or expiration.

Storage Instructions: Store at room temperature.
