RE: Safetec Zorb Sheets and Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPs)

Safetec of America confirms that our Zorb Sheets do not contain any Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPs) as defined by applicable international regulations, including the Stockholm Convention.

The materials used in our Zorb Sheets, primarily superabsorbent polymer and cellulose-based tissue, are not classified as POPs.

Safetec and our suppliers closely monitor all raw materials and manufacturing processes to ensure ongoing compliance with current environmental and safety standards.
