RE: Safetec Zorb Sheets

Safetec of America confirms that our Zorb Sheet solidifiers are built to maintain their efficacy long term when stored under proper conditions.

Our Zorb Sheet solidifiers do not come with expiration dates because when stored in the proper conditions, away from direct sunlight and extreme temperatures, they will stay shelf stable.

Zorb Sheet solidifiers are a non-regulated item with no active ingredients or claims, therefore Zorb Sheet solidifiers do not require expiration dating. Proper storage in a temperature controlled warehouse ensures their usability for at least 36 months from time of receipt. To help with efficacy, we also recommend keeping the master case properly sealed and perform periodic inspections.

We encourage our customers to exercise their best judgment when assessing their products and to inspect the Zorb Sheet solidifiers periodically and especially before using them.
